

Creating a Meaningful Dialogue with Communities

Indigenous communities across Canada and abroad receive a constant flow of resource extraction companies knocking at their door. Communities that are considering partnerships often find industry is disconnected from their priorities and have a lack of understanding about their land, culture, governance, and how they work.

Our Community-Driven Engagement Services provide you with a suite of tools that save valuable time and resources by providing you with an understanding of a community's cultural values, their modern way of living and what's important to them. This allows you to make equitable business decisions that create a respectful relationship with the communities you work with.

Community Driven Engagement Services - Based on 5 Elements

COMMUNITY PRIORITIES Respecting Values

- Human Resource Development
- Educational Links
- Linking Traditions with Technology
- Protection of Environment & Culture
- Opportunities for Local Businesses
- Employment Opportunities
- Community Infrastructure

GOVERNANCE Acknowledging People

- Organizational Structure
- Management
- Regulations & Agreements
- Community Groups, Committees & Boards

CULTURE Preserving Traditions

- Community Profile
- History
- Language
- Traditional Holidays & Events

LAND USE Protecting the Environment

- Resource Inventory
- Sacred Sites
- Names & Places

COMMUNICATION Speaking their Language

- Contacts
- Protocol